ANOTHER MILE-POST

The speeding passenger train passes mile-post after mile-post. The train approaches, passes, and leaves the mile-posts behind and they apparently neither help nor hinder the speed. We know that they do not, nevertheless, they record the speed of the train in the mind of the engineer. They tell him whether the train is on time or not and he regulates the speed accordingly.

We, also, like the speeding train, pass mile-post after mile-post. Another year is gone. Another college year is ending, we passed it, and now it has been left behind. The moment that marked the passing of the year passed beyond our reach like all others. Time will not stand still for us, also, as the engineer, can make use of these mile-posts to regulate and time our speed. They act out their role in segments which we may use as a basis of comparison.

Are you behind schedule?

—Ex.

Comments by the President

In our day, we are erecting monuments to the zeros spots of the past, and refusing our ministrations for the thinkers of the present. Yet how little we know the man who, amid obstacles and defeats, still believes in us as we are, carries out the Truth in that no man ever achieved great deeds unless he was first a great believer. Unless Paul, the apostle, had unswervingly and unquestionably believed in Christ, he would never have become the great leader of the early church, unless Luther had fervently and triumphantly believed in the power of the Bible, he would never have become the great reformer of the middle ages. No man can become a leader, or who has no faith in himself, in the cause of God. Dear reader, have you given the best out of the force God gave you, consecrated your powers, and unleashed them from sprawling, self-seeking aims to serve your fellowmen as a "good soldier of Jesus Christ." Men of faith are men of love. They possess a warm heart that inspires and thrills and endears. Christ is the victory that overcometh the world.

—V. H.

LENTEN MEDITATIONS

Crucifying Christ Afresh

There is a very serious statement in Hebrews 6: 11 reform, and to the common run of unbelievers, attitude, and the like, but to people who "were once enlightened, and have tasted of the heavenly gift, and were partakers of the Holy Ghost." If they fall away, the apostle says they cruelty to themselves the Son of God, afresh.

Whatever may be the full meaning of this difficult passage, there is the frightful possibility of a believer "falling away" and thereby repeating the crime of the ages in a particular sense. A gifted educational consultant, against a better judgment, and revealed in the face of an seeming conclusion, may be the first step on the road from which there is no return. The first word of Christ to the church at Ephesus was to them for they knew not what they did. God does not apply sin and to the sinner.

Principle obstat is the advice of an ancient sage. Beware of the first beginnings in sins way of wrong-doing.

Instead of thinking of sin in general, and of the sins of the whole world as those crucified Christ we should look upon specific sins as those in our life and in the lives of others, which may embody the essential terrabilities of an unpardonable sin. Lest in a good time for the unpsycho-analysis. And the Ten Commandments are still a very good guide in searching our life for the special, real, sore.

SEMINARY NOTES

Two informal meetings of those interested in debating have been held in the German classroom. Thirteen students were present.

The purpose of the meetings was to discuss the best possible index system to be used by seminary students and to suggest a method for the filing.

Librarians were led by Mr. W. Goetsch, librarian, who is the summer librarian, and by Miss Grace Brosius, secretary of the Kirchliche Zeitschrift who have had many years experience in this line. It is now a key to the right treasure of the many articles and sermons of this important periodical.

It was decided that an index club will be organized to assist the librarian in her duties to assist those who already register in the indexing and care of a systematic filing and index system.

Professors Bing, Gelveih, and Theodore Graebner were present and contributed to the latter part of the week of March 16th.

Mr. Harvey Prutzel, Ordman, Iowa, was our only student pastor at Centerville, Ia., Sunday, March 15.

To assist Seminarians in acquainting themselves with some of the better current religious literature, the Wartburg Bookstore has introduced a new service through the press reading club. The movement aims to select such titles within will offer interesting and profitable reading. The high average reached by the seven-day-books indicates that the selection was carefully made. New titles are added weekly. The last contains sixty-one titles at present. Volunteers to help conduct has enjoyed the widest circulation.

DISTITCHES

By Arm.

Do you want to succeed? Here is the advice one man gives:

"The world moves! In the world should be wise in the use of his pressions. Use the YOU twenty times, where once you utter the I. Try not to be one of the careless yet be not drowned in its waters; be not like the dog who dropped the think with the thought of the fowl.

The ancient Romans were accustomed to place in the vestibules of their houses, the busts of their ancestors. These were to remind all the young men of their noble deeds and illustrious virtues.

The deeds and virtues of living men are of better interest and concern.

Speaking of virtues, it counts for much when in the right direction, have the courage to condemn unworthy deeds.

There is the man for woman's who is not said.

At evening when he went to bed
I'll awaken with the evening cock,
Thank the Lord for all his care,
And say my prayers.

Where is the man who rather late
Crawls out of bed at half past eight,
That has not sheriff's in find excuse,
good.
A better not to work too hard!

How very true of the residents of our dorms.

There is an ingenious instrument used in testing the conditions of the track. A newly engineered car is run on a section of the track, every defect of alignment, and even the quality of the ballast, is noted and registered. This instrument is called a "track geometer."

Is not a carefully cultivated and well-kept conscience just such a dynamo?

What a dead world this would be without talk and language; but it seems to me that talk should be, like water pumped from a well. Then ground that lets lay dull and dried

Smiles up at you revivified;
And flowers—ad speech—feeding by the dew.
Put forth fresh root and bud anew.
But I'm not sure that any flower
Would thrive beneath Niagara's shower!
So when a friend turns full on me his verbal hose, may I not flee?
I cannot help my self-control,
But I'm too watered—God—I'm drowned.

RACKER SPEAKS AT CONVOCATION

Vocks Talks to Students on Actuarial Science; Male Chorus Sings.

Mayor Leonard H. Racker asked "What Are You Worth?" to Wartburg students at convocation, March 16, and helped them to answer by pointing out life standards.

"Popularly, we are about equal in value—few of us are worth more than a million," he said. Now, he explained, our wealth measure for worth of a man.

"The worth of a man depends upon what he is doing with his span of life. Be the best of whatever you are!" he urged. "Your worth depends upon what you put out of your environment and upon how much you put back into the world."

Male Chorus Sings.

A program of sacred hymns was given by the male chorus at convocation Wednesday, May 18, Prof. E. G. Hein, the chorus director, and Erhard Schalkhauser, violinist, conducted the group.

"Insurance today is firmly based on science—it is no longer a gamble," said Walter G. Vocks, speaker at convocation May 18. Actuarial science consists of compiling a vast amount of data relative to births and deaths over a long period of time, and constructing charts of life expectancies. The insurance company then may accurately determine rates.

Waterman, Wartzik Conduct Chapel

Chapel services were in charge of Waldemar Waterman and Walter Wartzik, May 20. He read a portion of the history of the Passion. Miss Frances Priebe sang a solo.

"The Christian's Life Race" was the subject of the address given last Wednesday by Clifton Wortzik. "The Christian has life-long hard race to run. He must take sides in the world and whatever interferes with his race that is not in the race prize the crown of life," said Mr. Wortzik in part.

Thalman Sings.

J. William Thalman, head of the voice department of Wartburg college and of the voice department of Ross Conservatory of Music, Waterloo, presented a concert of Lieder songs at convocation, Monday, May 11. He was accompanied by Mrs. Thalman.

LITERARY CORNER

"Rarely I Find"

Rarely I find
A book so filled
With joyness all
My ears are stilled.

But when it haps
Let midnight call—
I hear no earthly
Voice at all.

Around my study
Every day
Are heaven's windows
Open wide.

And up my breast
Wishes sing
And bursting bright
Fulfillment bring.

G. J. Neumann.

Birth and Death

Grips me in the One before I know
And flings me across the way to go.
The Other, how long, how long,
Turries until my soul is strong
To meet him as a breaking bond,
Yet this
The purpose sole and ultimate is
Of my forced travel up the land.

G. J. Neumann.

The Dial

Fear at eve and on my knees
My straining hands must be
Winding — or it shall surely cease
The dial of eternity.

G. J. Neumann.

"Hand in Hand"

Hand in hand
The highway fare
Wholly laughter
Doubled care.

To what door
In the dark they will Safe arrive
Shall fold them in.

And a voice
Like where are
That round the roots
Of Calvary flow:

"Watcher by Wayfaring,
Brother of me;
At his call
Your waking be.

"Now in the Stillness"

Now in the stillness all my soul be still
Listen and tell what I cannot hear;
For why bones beyond the farthest sea
And is power intimately near Mightily imparts what must of me
be done
Listen and tell—I wait in love and fear.

HERTEL ISSUES FIRST BASEBALL CALL MARCH 23

Knights Meet Ellsworth in Opener April 24;

Twenty-two men responded to Coach Hertel's call for baseball practice last Monday, March 23. Because of weather conditions the baseball aspirants have not been able to get in much extensive practice in their first week's drill but it is hoped that milder conditions will prevail in the near future to make for their first encounter less than four weeks distant, April 24.

Little more than batting practice and some fielding practice has been done in the first week. Hertel and Ihm are facing a tough schedule and will have to come along fast after the Easter vacation in order to be in condition to meet the Ellsworth team on the opening date. This game will be played on the local diamond.

Only two games have been definitely scheduled, one of those is the opening game here April 24. With Ellsworth and the other one is a return game at Iowa Falls on May 1. Upper Iowa has replied to Hertel's request for games and has promised the Knights two games to be announced later. Coach Hertel is attempting to schedule the Pesocolo for May 8 here as the game is a contention on Wartburg's part to hold trophy for one day. Letter and State Teachers have also been contacted but no reply has been received as yet.

KRETZSCHMER IS HONORARY CAPT

Only Senior Member of Team Is Given Honorary Captaincy of Champs.

For the honorary basketball captaincy the Knights elected Elmer Kretzschmar, the only senior on the squad, in an election held just previous to the basketball banquet held Tuesday night.

Mr. Kretzschmar, son of Mrs. M. Kretzschmar of Dubuque, is a 6 foot English major and in his second year of graduate work. He is one of the best basketball players of the basketball floor, having played his freshman year at Waverly and coming to basketball at Wartburg. Custom in his sophomore year. Elmer returned to the sport this year and provided Coach Hertel with the solution of his greatest problem of the basketball season—Who to put in the other guard position.

Hertel being a star performer on the basketball court Mr. Kretzschmar is also a luminary on the tennis courts, having three years of experience in inter-collegiate competition to this phase of athletics. He hopes to round out his college athletic competition by engaging in tennis and baseball this spring.

IOWA TEAM WINS INTRA-MURALS

"Big Eight" Tournament Closes Intra-Mural B. B. Competition.

The intra-mural basketball schedule of the "Big Eight" came to a close by a tournament which was played in the week of March 9-14. The Iowa Hawks captained by Erwin Grosbaum and the Mohican Waverians of the Jim Russell were the two survivors of the simi-finals Monday, these two teams banged Saturday evening, March 14, in a championship and winning game. The Iowa team emerged victorious by a 20 to 11 victory. This game concluded a phase of intramural athletics which has been very interesting to the student body. Many of the games were very exciting especially in the latter stages of the tournament. Besides the interesting inter-mural basketball program for next year, Medals and trophies will be awarded to the champions.

In the other semi-final game the

FRESHMEN TAKE CLASS B B CROWN IN TOURNAMENT

Kep., Nygren Pilot Frosh to Class Championship.

The freshmen swamped both the juniors and the sophomores to clinch the honors in the class basketball tournament. The seniors had high hopes of winning the honors but they were beaten in the semi-finals by the strong Kep.-Nygren combination. In the finals, the frosh hope to maintain their championship throughout the remainder of their college career.

All of the games were highly exciting, and the fans yelled lustily for their favorites. The spirit of rivalry and competition was very noticeable, and at times the game became exceedingly fast and rough. In fact that was a case in which a foul was called in the tournament speak for itself. This is an average of 21.5 fouls per game. Nevertheless the tournament was successful in that it stimulated a large amount of interest in class rivalry.

The freshmen proved themselves the class of the field by piling up 40 points to their opponents' 39. The freshmen also had their share who ranked among the eight leading scorers. Kep. and Nygren combined for 24 points and thereby kept Lehmann's name narrowly defeated the fighting freshmen coached by Ernie Reist in the battle. The game was close throughout and was the best game of the tournament. Engelbrecht secured 6 points for the seniors and Kaufmann collected 11 points for the seniors.

The juniors coached by Hinkel swamped the seniors to a 34-13 contest. Hinkel's mates and teammates were Ortsuliff (11) and Kammerlohr (10).

In the finals the frosh again proved themselves the superior team by defeating the Hinkel team. The game was marred by 32 fouls, each team collecting 16. Chadwick and Tidick grab while Engelbrecht starred for the sophs with 7 points.

The eight leading scorers of the tournament were:

Chadwick	34	Engelbrecht 16

Box score of the final game:

TRI-STATE CHAMPIONS

Knight Flashes

As a sort of anti-climax to a great basketball season, the 1936 Wartburg champs were feted at a banquet last night at the Commercial Hotel. Besides interesting information in this column which besides being entertaining was also in some degree very enlightening.

There was for instance the climax of the coach's speech in which he finally acquainted accounts with Kep. You perhaps remember the old feud between Hertel and Ed. which started through mention of coach's setting up at a restaurant one night.

* * *

Kretschmar deserves a real hand for his playing. Throughout Elmer played a good game throughout and in any account Hertel will have a problem of whom to put in as a running mate to Kretschmar.

* * *

Ed Harder also deserves a boost. As anyone who reviewed the Tri-State games, Ed was in there with every play during every game. The Knights have developed a really leader in Harder and we hope to see him next year as the leading Wartburg team first session.

* * *

The loving cup Hertel received had no connection whatsoever with the championship of Wartburg. As a parting salute to the 1935-36 basketball season the cup is coming to our valiant "Knightbuilders" a hearty "Well Done!"

* * *

As basketball takes its final bow, baseball is already getting ready beneath the scenes to take its turn on the Wartburg sports stage. The boys have practiced only a few days and it is impossible to make any estimate of the baseball prospects.

* * *

The boys are taking some tough opposition when they meet the Waverly Pesocolo. The Pesolo team is playing Luther and Iowa State among several other strong teams this season. The games have been scheduled with Doc Dorman's men.

* * *

"Gus" Engelbrecht will undoubtedly be the mainstay around which Coach Hertel will have to build his team. "Gus", a sophomore, has proven himself a capable floor man and has had experience on the Upper Iowa basketball team last year.

* * *

Dean Pitz was out on the first call of practice showing the boys how he used to set 'em down at Capital and also in Canadian action with his submarine delivery. Pitz will give the battery men a few pointers this spring but will not enter into active coaching.

* * *

With spring in our veins most of us can hardly wait for the umpire's "play ball" on April 24 for the first home game. Let's keep the old spirit and lend our whole-hearted support to the baseball team as we backed our Knights on the basketball floor.

HARDEN CHOSEN TO LEAD KNIGHTS

Diminutive Forward to Captain Hertel's 1936-37 Orange and Black Cagers.

Edward Hordin of Waverly was chosen to lead the Knights in the 1936-37 basketball campaign. Ed, a sophomore in the college department, was an outstanding performer on the Orange and Black cage team this year and showed the cool-headedness with which his team-mates have invested him.

Mr. Harden is not only a basketball star but is equally adept in football and in tennis. Coming to Wartburg from Iowa this year he Tri-State football. Harden made the All-Tri-State football team as one of the two backfield men. This year he functioned as a forward on the Wartburg cage basketball team. Ed will carry on his inter-collegiate athletic competition this spring on the tennis court.

Besides his athletic accomplishments, Mr. Harden was honored last fall by the "W" club in being elected president of that organization. With a man of such all-around ability as Ed Wartburg seem to have made a wise decision in electing Harden to guide their next season's athletics through a successful season. Ed promises to be more grueling than the one of the past season.
